

A STRANGE CAREER.

THE LIFE HISTORY OF EDITH WALKER.

Disclosures Made by the Young Actress in Her Suit for a Divorce.

She Also Sues Her Step-father to Recover a Legacy Left by Her Mother.

Her Existence on the Island of San Miguel—Bought the Captain of a Sealing Vessel to Take Her Away—Walker is Here.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.) SAN FRANCISCO, July 5.—Edith Waters Walker, 20 years old, the adopted daughter of a millionaire, a successful actress, once a prisoner on San Miguel Island and finally the wife of the impoverished son of a man who was John W. Mackay's partner in the bonanza days, has commenced two suits that will disclose a strange story of vicissitudes. She is suing her husband for a divorce, and her stepfather, Capt. Waters, for $500, which she alleges was left by her mother for her use.

Mrs. Walker was left an orphan at an early age, and was adopted by Mrs. Scott, a wealthy woman of this city. Mrs. Scott married Capt. Waters, who owned San Miguel Island, one of the Santa Barbara chain. The island was used as a cattle ranch, and Capt. Waters, with his wife and Edith, lived there. Mrs. Waters died leaving property valued at $500,000 and $500,000 in cash to her husband, but Edith was to be used at his discretion for Edith's education. After her mother's death, the girl lived on the island, being the only woman there with the exception of an Indian squaw. There she grew up until she was 15, when she was taken to the mainland to take her away, and she sailed for San Diego. She came to San Francisco and lived on the stage, where she made a success.

While here she met John Mackay Walker, son of John B. Walker, who several years ago was a Bonanza millionaire. She married young Walker, who earned money as a car conductor while she acted. Finally she went to South America with a dramatic company, where they were burned out and lost all their effects. She returned to San Francisco, and now wishes to cultivate her voice. She will give up the stage, and devote herself to the care of her three-year-old baby. She has sued her husband for a divorce in Los Angeles, for a divorce, which she brought suit for the $500, which she says her mother left her.

JAIL HAD NO TERRORS.

THE POSTOFFICE ROBBERS WERE TREATED WELL.

Women Were Admitted to Play Dominoes with Them—A Tart Letter from the Postmaster-General—Says He Wants Somebody's Scalp.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.) NEW YORK, July 5.—The escape of Kloran, Russell and Allen from the Ludlow-street jail yesterday morning promises to develop a lively scandal. They were detained there pending extradition to Illinois for the robbery of the Springfield postoffice.

The officers at the jail have pretended to be greatly puzzled as to how the prisoners managed to secure the receivers with which they overpowered the two turnkeys. It was developed yesterday, however, that the three prisoners had been allowed the greatest freedom. Women had been allowed to come into the jail and associate with them, and only recently it is learned that a woman, while evening in the reception room, playing bagatelle and dominoes with women visitors. There now seems to be little doubt as to how they secured the weapons with which they bulldozed their keepers.

A RAKING-OVER FROM WILSON.

WASHINGTON, July 5.—Postmaster-General Wilson and other officials of his department are greatly disgusted over the escape of the accused postoffice-robbers from the Ludlow-street jail. Mr. Wilson today offered a reward of $1000 each for their capture, and he also wrote a letter to United States Attorney McFarland at New York, in which he asserts that he cannot avoid the conclusion that some one is criminally responsible for the escape. He declares he has been so shocked by the carelessness or criminality made the escape possible should be held to a strict accountability.

Mr. Wilson asserts that, considering the desperate character of the men and their well-known criminal records, every precaution should have been taken, and he is speaking of the officers for permitting the prisoners to change their personal appearance after their incarceration, with the evident purpose of thwarting identification when arraigned for trial. He refers, as having significance, to the fact that the prisoners were well supplied with means.

GUNST'S DISCOVERY.

He Finds Willie James of Obispo Jailed at Chicago.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.) CHICAGO, July 5.—Police Commissioner Gunst of San Francisco, while here inspecting the police system of Chicago, found a young man in a cell at the army who he knew. He was William James, whose father is very wealthy and owns a big health resort at San Luis Obispo, Cal. The charge against him was "found loitering on the lake-front in connection with a revolver in his possession."

Although at first disinclined to do so, James finally consented, when Gunst insisted on sending him to his father, notifying him of his trouble and getting him to send money to pay his fine. The money came and James was paid. The young man told Gunst that he was touring around the country on a commission plan for experience and was arrested on suspicion while occupying a room at the Illinois Central Hotel. He did not want word home, as he did not want his father to know that he had been arrested. Gunst, in speaking of the incident, says that Willie is no criminal, although he happened to be a cousin of the famous James brothers, the outlaws, but he is a gentleman born and raised. He was supposed to be working in Kansas City, where he has other relatives. Police Commissioner Gunst announced himself as a student of Chicago police methods, and was investigating the metropolitan police systems for the purpose of making important changes in his own department. Gunst then conferred a talk with Commissioner McGovern.

ATTEMPTS AT ARSON.

Three Efforts Made to Burn a Chicago Apartment House.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.) CHICAGO, July 5.—Three determined but unsuccessful attempts have been made within three days to burn the Mecca apartment buildings, the big flats occupying the entire block at Thirty-fourth and State streets. The greatest excitement prevailed among the members of the eight families occupying apartments in the buildings, and thousands of people gathered in the streets to watch the firemen. The first fire was discovered in the basement, but prompt work by the firemen prevented further damage than was caused by smoke.

The firemen had only just returned to their house when another alarm came in from the same quarter. The second fire was found in the basement of the largest building, the rambo, in the first blaze. The arrival of the fire department the second time threw the occupants of the building into a state of panic. The firemen ran through the halls and into the street, terror-stricken, but the quick work of the firemen reassured them, and the fire was extinguished. After the first fire, police were summoned, and it was while they were being assigned to their places that the second fire broke out.

A few hours later another alarm was sent in. This time the fire was discovered in the largest building, the rambo, at the north end of the building. The firemen, however, were at the building in a jiffy and the blaze was extinguished. A search revealed the fact that inflammable material had been placed in several parts of the building, and the evidences of attempt at arson were so plain that the firemen, who were sent to guard the building all night. The affair will be investigated.

EDUCATORS' MEETING.

THE NATIONAL COUNCIL CALLED TO ORDER AT DENVER.

Attendance Meager on Account of Delayed Trains—A Paper on "Economy in Elementary Education" is Read and Discussed.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.) DENVER, July 5.—The thirty-fourth annual convention of the National Educational Association began today. Comparatively few teachers and principals, however, were present, as they were taken up with sessions of the National Council of Education, the general convention holding its first meeting on Tuesday, July 5.

The meeting of the council was called to order by Prof. C. C. Rounds of Plymouth, N. H., president of the council. The attendance was meager on account of delayed trains. N. C. Dougherty of Peoria, the secretary, was present. The report of the Committee on Moral Education and Elementary Education, the programme for the morning session, was dispensed with on account of the non-arrival of Emerson E. White of Columbus, O., chairman of the committee. A discussion of the subject was substituted and it was participated in by Earl Barnes of Menlo Park, Cal.; Joseph Baldwin of Huntsville, Tex.; C. C. Rounds of Plymouth, N. H.; David L. Kiehl of St. Paul, Minn.; and D. C. Richards of Washington, D. C.

The National Teachers' Association, which was established in Philadelphia, and in 1870, at a convention held in Cleveland, the name was changed to the National Educational Association. The objects of the association are: To elevate the character and advance the interests of the profession of teaching and to promote the cause of popular education in the United States. Any persons in any way connected with the work of education are eligible to membership. The association's membership includes Canadian educators, was last year 6000.

The officers are: President, Dr. Nicholas B. Butler of Columbia College, New York city; first vice-president, A. G. Lane, superintendent of Chicago schools; secretary, Irwin Shepard, superintendent of the Minnesota State Normal School at Winona; treasurer, I. C. McNeil, assistant superintendent of schools at Kansas City. The committee on the National Educational Association, make up the Executive Committee of the association.

The afternoon session was devoted to the reading of the report of the Committee on Elementary Education, by the chairman of the committee, Miss Mary Dutton of Cleveland, and its discussion. The position was taken by the reader that the teacher should be required to instruct a much less number of pupils than is ordinarily the case. She thought smaller primary classes and more thorough application would give the pupil a start in the study of the subject.

The discussion was by George P. Brown of Bloomington, Ill.; Z. R. Richards of Cleveland, O.; F. L. Soltan of St. Louis; John W. Cook of Normal, Ill.; A. R. Taylor of Emporia, Kan.; J. H. Jones of Cleveland and C. B. Gilbert of Chicago. The discussion of smaller classes was opposed by Brown and others, and warmly supported by Richards. The council voted to have the paper read and discussed in its annual report.

About five hundred people witnessed his attempt to descend into the lake, which took place at Rosen's log-camp, eight miles from here. KILLED HER HUSBAND

MRS. J. F. G. LESTER'S STARTLING REVOLT.

She Shoots Him Through the Back Because of His Brutal Treatment.

The Dead Man a Nephew of Sir Edwin Arnold and Son of a General.

Two Men Arrested as Train-Robbers. Report of the Colla Investigation Secretary Lament Not Coming to California.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

SAN FRANCISCO, July 5.—A strange story is brought from India via Hong Kong by the steamer City Rio de Janeiro. The narrative tells of the murder of J. F. G. Lester, acting Superintendent of Police at Godra, by his wife. The woman makes an excuse for her terrible deed by explaining that her husband was most brutal to her, and in a moment of passion she seized a rifle and shot Lester through the back, killing him instantly.

Peculiar interest is taken in the case because of the prominence of the principals. Lester was the nephew of Sir Edwin Arnold, and the son of an old Bombay general, and Mrs. Lester is the daughter of Col. Graham, an old Indian campaigner. She was married to Lester five years ago.

The tragedy occurred on the night of May 8 at the top of what is known as Pawing Hill, Panch Mahals district. The Lesters had been encamped at Champaner for some time, and it was desired that the camp be moved to the top of the hill, which is 2500 feet high. The lady objected to moving, and begged to be permitted to return to her home in Bombay, but Mrs. Lester's husband refused her request. She finally agreed to accompany her husband, and on the 7th of May the moving party started up the grade. Camp was reached on the morning of the 8th.

On the morning of the 9th a courier arrived at Littledeals camp, half way down the mountain, with news that Lester had been killed. A letter written by Mrs. Lester was handed the Littledeals, in which communication she made the statement that she had shot her husband because she could not stand his brutal treatment any longer, and asking that the authorities be notified.

Mrs. Lester was arrested, but expressed no sorrow for her terrible deed, which has created a profound sensation throughout India.

NEWS OF THE FIELD.

She Was Burned and Her Crew in En Route to England.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

SAN DIEGO, July 5.—The British ship Marion Fraser, Capt. Wall, which arrived here today from Newcastle, Australia, brings news that the crew of the ship, which was burned at sea in 18 deg. S., 113 deg. W. The crew of twenty-six men took to the boats and were picked up after fourteen days by the ship Centaur, bound for the United Kingdom.

Capt. Wall says that when off Pictorial Island he saw three boats approaching from shore and making signals. He brought the ship around, but waited for them to come up. The occupants of the boats were islanders and they brought letters from the survivors of the field addressed to their relatives. The islanders said that as the field was approaching the equator, fire was discovered in the hold. All hands fought the flames, and for a time it was thought that the ship would be saved, but on March 7 a terrific explosion of gas occurred, blowing open the hatches and allowing the air to fan the flames.

Seeing that the ship was doomed, Capt. Wall ordered the crew into the boats, which were provisioned and carried sails. The boats were headed due north. Nelson's ship, which was in the track of Australian and coasting vessels. In this way they were successful, the Centaur picking them up after fourteen days. The Centaur proceeded to Pictorial Island for provisions, and there the crew of the field wrote letters, which will now be mailed here. The Centaur then proceeded on her voyage, taking the field's crew with her. She is now due to arrive in the British port.

THOSE NEW BATTLESHIPS.

Important Test Bearing on the Location of the Guns.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

WASHINGTON, July 5.—A very important test has been made recently at Indian Head, which will determine the location of the guns of the new battleships on the construction of the two new battleships over which there has been so much contention. The test was made under the direction of Capt. Sampson of the Ordnance Department, and has submitted a report of his findings to Secretary Herbert, who is now considering the naval plans of the battleships.

The bureau chiefs of the Construction Bureau differ radically on several features, one of the most essential being the location of the guns. The bureau chiefs are divided into two camps, the one favoring the guns to be located in the center of the ship, the other favoring the guns to be located on the sides. The test was made to determine which plan was the better.

The test was made by firing a shot from the main battery of the battleship Oregon, which was located in the center of the ship. The shot was fired at a target located on the side of the ship. The result was that the shot hit the target, which proved that the center location of the guns was the better plan.

Leaders of the Revolutionary Party Flocking to New York—Capt. Garrido's Estate Burned and His Peons Massacred.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

SANTIAGO DE CUBA, July 5.—(By South American Cable.)—It is reported here that a small Cuban expedition from Jamaica, while attempting to land on the coast west of Santiago recently, was so closely pursued by a Spanish vessel that the Cubans were forced to burn their ship, with the bulk of the munitions aboard to avoid capture. The men, however, all escaped.

Twenty-five young Cubans, including the sons of several leading merchants, succeeded in reaching the coast of Cuba, Spanish pilot lines and rejoining the rebel forces.

Private advices from the insurgents assert that Capt. Garrido, chief of the Spanish volunteers of Yateras, was killed in a recent engagement. The news is being confirmed by the Cuban press. Garrido's estate was burned by rebel guerrillas and sixteen Spanish laborers upon the place were killed in the attack. According to Spanish accounts the rebels were armed with rifles, and were virtually massacred by the Cubans, who turned a deaf ear to the most pitiful appeals for mercy.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

He assumes that when the government begins a suit of such magnitude that it will be carried to the court of last resort, but he will have nothing to say on the matter until he examines the decision of the District Court and hears officially from Attorney McKisick.

ALL ALONG THE LINE.

Was anything the matter with that Fourth of July celebration?

Orange county liquor dealers are organizing to oppose legislation directed against their business.

The Downey correspondent writes that a presiding elder of that place learned to ride the bicycle after half an hour's practice and a few tumbles. A bicycle that would throw a presiding elder ought to be ashamed of itself.

The shrewd financiers comprising South Pasadena's Board of Trustees have consented to make a concession to the Terminal Company on conditions not entirely satisfactory to the latter, but it may be cheap enough after all.

The United States imports $800,000 worth of almonds and $800,000 worth of other nuts annually. Before long Southern California will meet most of this demand with an article superior to that now imported. California almonds are much better than the imported nuts.

Those who have ascended Mt. Wilson by the new trail, remember a charming and verdant little valley about midway up called by the unconventional title, "Henninger's flat." The news is reported today that a Pasadena rich man has purchased the spot made famous by Henninger, Lewis, and will transform it into a popular resort.

Santa Monica suffered a special pyrotechnic feature of its celebration yesterday which was not down on the published programme. Over 200 acres of barley stubble adjoining the town caught fire late in the afternoon, and gave zest to its closing hours. The amount of smoke sent up was something prodigious; and yet the fields were dry enough to make the limits of the fire very problematical at one time during its course.

The City Council of Redlands voted to pay $25 toward $200 worth of uniforms, twenty-five in number, purchased by the fire department of that city. The understanding is that the city shall own the suits, and they are to be used by the fire boys only on special occasions. That would seem to be wise legislation on the part of the city. Redlands is proud of the fire company of that city made at the Fourth of July celebration at San Bernardino, and well it might be, for the company carried away the honors in four contests out of a possible five.

IMPORTANT TO BUILDERS.

Kila-dried Lumber for Flooring and Inside Finishes.

The attention of architects, builders and the general lumber trade is invited to the cargo of kiln-dried pine lumber now being discharged at East San Pedro, ex brig Courtney Ford. This vessel arrived from Tacoma, Wash., recently with a cargo of pine, suitable for flooring and inside finish, manufactured by Patten & Davis Lumber and Fuel Company by the Tacoma Mill Company, Tacoma, Wash. & Co., agents, No. 48 Market street, San Francisco.

This finish is superior in appearance to redwood, and is hard and susceptible to polish equal to oak or other hard woods. It is not worked until it is thoroughly dry, and smooth as glass. This flooring never shrinks or swells, an objection so often met with where green lumber is used.

The weight of the flooring after being treated in the kiln and worked is only two pounds to the foot, board measure, making it desirable for car shipment, and the public are invited to inspect the cargo, either while being discharged or at our yards. The trade is supplied. Patten & Davis Lumber and Fuel Company, Los Angeles and Pasadena.

FROM CATALINA

AVALON (Catalina Island) July 5.—(By Homing Pigeon Genevieve of the Catalina Carrier Pigeon Service to The Times.) The residents and visitors at this favored resort were last evening given as perfect a picture of fairyland as could be presented anywhere in the prosaic old world. A pen-and-ink description can by no means do justice to the sublime spectacle which last night converted the busy arena of Avalon into that which the name signifies—"the land of fairies where never a harsh wind blows."

Seen from the bridge on the upper deck of the incoming steamer the sight was superb beyond description. While yet far out at sea a myriad of welcoming lights twinkled from the bay, which on the nearer approach of the steamer, resolved into shape and form. A long line of tiny rafts, each bearing a pair of twinkling lights floated out to the entrance of the harbor, describing graceful curves, to escort the Hermosa to the pier. Following these was a fleet of illuminated yachts, led by the Fleetwing, her masts all outlined by swinging Chinese lanterns and a multitude of rockets leaping from her deck. Each yacht was a picture in itself. On one the magic word "Avalon" in letters of fire stood out in bold relief. The still surface of the water reflected every light like a mirror, thereby intensifying everything. As the steamer approached the wharf the fleet circled about, forming a long and brilliant cortege, and rockets which resolved into slow-falling stars, and the man in the moon looking down on the scene actually became pale with awe.

While this display was going on in the bay, the spectacle on shore was no less gorgeous. From the top of Sugar Loaf, where blazed a signal fire, to the steep cliff which guards the opposite entrance to the bay, the entire eroding shore was ablaze with colored lights. As the steamer touched the wharf numerous set pieces were touched off and revolving stars and other brilliant effects dazzled the eyes. The town was in a perfect carnival of color. The Metropole was distinctly outlined by hundreds of magnificent Japanese lanterns which swung from every available part of the great building. Not a cottage or hut but was aglow with light in gala attire. The Marine Band from its brilliantly-illuminated stand played its choicest airs as the celebration progressed.

At 10:30 o'clock the last rocket had shot itself into the air, the moon was permitted to resume her way and the throng of revelers repaired to the pavilion, whither the band had preceded them, to merrily trip the light fantastic, which was the concluding festivity of the day.

Special Committee Listens to Testimony in the Howard Bribery Case—Under Adjudication.

A Spirited Spat in the Board of Education Rooms—Annual Report of the City Auditor—The Refunding Bond Matter.

The special committee of Councilmen listened yesterday to the testimony in the Howard bribery case, and took the matter under advisement, pending their report to the Council on Monday. The Board of Public Works transacted the usual amount of routine business and were treated to the customary epidemic of speech-making by the promoters of various electric railways and electric lighting plants.

The Courtroom was resting yesterday after the celebration of the Fourth. Three men were sentenced to the penitentiary, and a lively divorce case was going on in Department Three, but otherwise it was very quiet.

AT THE CITY HALL.

BRIBERY CHARGES.

A Special Committee Hears Testimony in the Case.

The special committee appointed by the Council to investigate the charges of attempted bribery preferred by Councilman Kingley against Street Superintendent Howard, met yesterday afternoon to hear the testimony of the witnesses who had been summoned by the City Clerk.

Councilmen Stockwell, Snyder and Blanchard composed the committee, while President Teed conducted the examination of the witnesses.

Councilman Kingley was called to the stand, and, after being sworn, related in detail the story of the Street Superintendent's attempt to bribe him, at his home, with the offer of $200, to be paid the Councilman should be successful in preventing the re-advertising for lots in the Fourth Ward.

"It was about 2 o'clock," said Councilman Kingley, "when I was reclining on a couch at my home, my wife informed me that Mr. Howard wished to see me in the parlor. Stepping into the parlor, Mr. Howard greeted me with a remark about the street sweeping trouble the Council had recently been investigating. Then, very abruptly he said, 'How about the school sites—are you going to readvertise them?'"

"I answered that we were, and Mr. Howard said, 'Why should you do so when Dodd's lots are the cheapest?' I replied that the lots were not satisfactory to Mr. Pitman. 'Well,' said Mr. Howard, 'I am a friend of Dodd, and would like very much to sell the lots, and wished your influence in the matter, but was afraid to approach you.'"

"As I was a friend of Dodd, I agreed to see you and make this proposition for Mr. Dodd: If you will see that the bids are not readvertised, there will be $200 in your pocket."

That Mr. Pitman did not want the lots, and Mr. Howard then repeated his offer, saying that $200 was not picked up every day, and that the affair could be managed so it would never be known. I then flatly declined to discuss the matter further with him, and he left, having occupied about fifteen minutes' time in conversing with me."

Councilman Kingley was asked if he had any subsequent conversation with Mr. Howard, and replied that Mr. Howard had reproached him a number of days after his interview, for having told some of the city officials of the affair. Councilman Kingley then related to the reproaches by Mr. Howard, he believed no transactions should take place between city officials of which public conscience could not be taken.

School Director Pitman was next placed upon the stand and related the substance of a conversation which had taken place between Mr. Howard and himself, in which the Street Superintendent had requested him to use his influence in having the lots offered by Mr. Dodd accepted by the city. Mr. Pitman stated that he knew of the interview between Mr. Howard and Councilman Kingley, and, fearing a repetition of the attempt at bribery, closed the conversation as soon as he was able to do so.

M. Dodd, the owner of the lots in question, was the next witness called, and, in answer to the questions of President Teed, stated that he had spoken to Mr. Howard concerning his lots, just as he had spoken to a score of his friends on the same proposition. He denied having given Mr. Howard any authority whatever to offer in his behalf a money consideration to Councilman Kingley in having the lots influenced in having the lots accepted.

Dodd's partner testified to the same effect, declaring his utter ignorance of any such transaction having been entered into by Mr. Howard, stating that his first knowledge of the affair was obtained by reading the newspaper accounts of the matter.

Street Superintendent Howard then took the stand in his own behalf and without hesitation denied having ever mentioned the matter of Mr. Dodd's lots to Councilman Kingley, stating that he did not even know of their location.

This testimony seemed to daze Councilman Kingley, who sat, waiting for Street Superintendent Howard to be testified. "Will you swear," said the Councilman, shaking his finger at the witness, "before God and this crowd that you did not offer me $200, and afterward reproached me for having made the matter public?"

"I do so swear," replied the imperturbable Mr. Howard, whereat the aged Councilman reproachfully answered: "O! Mr. Howard, how can you—how can you?"

There being no further witnesses in the case, the testimony was taken under advisement by the committee, who will report to the Council on Monday.

BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.

The Contention Over the Electric Lighting Franchise.

The various parties interested in the electric-light franchise, recently granted by the City Council to L. F. Scott, appeared before the Board of Public Works yesterday and indulged in a wordy altercation about the much-disputed affair.

Attorney T. E. Gibson declared that, according to the literal wording of the franchise, Mr. Scott should begin at once the lighting of the City Hall and falling in this, should forfeit the franchise.

Judge Gotschalk, representing L. F. Scott, asked the board to grant his client nine months in which to erect his plant and prepare for the carrying out of his contract.

This proposition drew from Mr. Gibson strong words of disapproval, and led to the rehearsal by the attorney of all the points which he had raised in his previous speeches before the board.

Council. The board at length decided, under the authority of the City Attorney, that there were no legal obstacles in the way of allowing Mr. Scott the time he asked for in the erection and operation of his plant.

The board took action upon other matters submitted to them as follows: It was recommended that the petition of N. Myers for a franchise for two-and-a-half months, to erect poles and string wires in what is known as the old district be granted. The petitioner agreed to furnish the poles and the purpose of drilling and pumping wells, which will at once do away with the noise and smoke, and the general nuisance complained of in that vicinity.

The petition of D. E. Gridley and others that Gallado street, from Macy to Mission, be graded, graveled and curbed, and that the City Engineer be authorized to construct the petition of the Southern California Cracker Company and others that the property-owners along Aliso street, east of Alameda, at once make all their connections, were both granted.

The petition of the Metropolitan Oil Company to be allowed to lay a pipe for conveyance of oil on Toluca street from Court street to Second street, also on Court street and West State street, between Toluca street and Kern, was granted.

It was recommended in the matter of regrading First street between Broadway and Hill streets, that the hearing of the petition praying for the same be postponed until July 15 at 9 a. m.

The petition of William L. Riley and others to have the grade established on Flower street between Fourth and Sixth streets, and on Broadway between Broadway and Hill streets, be ascertained if a majority of the frontage is represented, and if so to present an ordinance establishing the grade.

It was recommended that the bid of Fritz & Rosenstien to purchase a burglar-alarm franchise at $25 be accepted, provided they pay into the City Treasury the amount of advertising and other expenses incurred.

It was recommended that in the matter of the proposed purchase of electric street railway franchise over Macy street and Griffin avenue, that all the bids be referred to the City Attorney for a legal opinion as to whether there is at present an existing franchise in the territory mentioned.

Recommended that the petition of A. Dougan and others that the Terminal Railway Company be authorized to place a crossing at G street, where it crosses their property, and the petition of R. H. Howell and others for a cement sidewalk on Grand street, between Pearl and Alvarado, be granted.

Recommended that the petition of Allison Barlow that the grading on the southwest corner of Grand avenue and Washington street, between Grand and the street sprinkled, be referred to the Street Superintendent to report if the street in question is properly graded and has been accepted.

In the matter of the contract with Moore & Stansbury for the improvement of Coronado street, it was recommended that the City Engineer be authorized to rescind and the City Engineer was instructed to make new estimates and present the necessary ordinance for the work.

A LIVELY SPAT.

Director Grubb Makes Use of Forceful Language.

Since the memorable night when the Board of Education declared vacant the office of Superintendent of Schools, thereby dismissing Prof. P. W. Search from his position, there has been more or less feeling on the part of certain members of the board over Prof. Search's action in continuing to retain possession of the superintendent's room.

The feeling culminated yesterday morning when Prof. Search entered the office while the Teachers' Committee was in session. The committee, through Mr. Pitman, had requested Prof. Search to deliver the reports of the special teachers in the High School, as a guide to the work of selecting the teachers for the coming year.

Upon Prof. Search's appearance yesterday, Director Pitman renewed the request, asking the professor if he did not have the reports with him. "I have them in my head," replied Prof. Search, "and will give you any information you may desire in the matter."

"But we wish the written reports," said Director Pitman, whereupon the professor intimated that the reports would remain in his possession for the present.

This reply made Director Grubb, as he expressed it, exceedingly "hot," and he proceeded to inform the professor that it was his business to turn over all the papers of his department at once, as he had been discharged, and his presence in the office was no longer desired.

"I told him," said Mr. Grubb to a Times reporter, "what my opinion was of a man who would be guilty of the audacity he displayed, and assured him that the colossal nerve he exhibited did him small credit."

The professor is now endeavoring to have his warrant for the entire month of June signed by the Finance Committee of the board, but Director Grubb declares the month's salary will never be paid, unless the professor procures a writ of mandamus to compel the payment. Prof. Search was dismissed on June 20, but has not yet received his duties for a week or more after that date, and naturally desires payment for his work.

Director Garland when seen yesterday, was very indignant at what he termed the insulting actions and words of Director Grubb, and declared his intention of thoroughly exposing the record of Mr. Grubb, whom he accuses of having used his position as a member of the Janitors Committee in the Board of Education to further his own private and family interests.

Meanwhile a new look has been placed on the door of the Superintendent's office, and the school directors propose to see that Prof. Search shall not be in it.

Friends of Prof. Search say that Director Grubb made a holy show of himself during this episode, and became very much excited, while Prof. Search remained as cool as a cucumber.

The Refunding Bonds.

A writ of mandamus has been ordered issued by the Supreme Court on Col. Freeman G. Teed, president of the City Council, in the matter of the refunding bonds.

The writ is returnable August 5, at which time the argument in the case will be heard, and a decision obtained as to the validity of the bonds.

Howland, the Spiritualist Fakir is Given Two Years.

H. E. Howland, the convicted fakir and perjurer, was brought up before Judge Smith yesterday and sentenced to a term of two years in San Quentin.

Howland was pale, but composed, and sat quietly through the long argument, in which all the pros and cons of the case were ably presented by the attorneys on both sides.

The delay of judgment was granted, pending an appeal to the Supreme Court.

Oil Wells Fight Commenced.

The suit of the People of California, upon relation of L. W. Wells, against the Far West Oil Company, the Los Angeles Crude Oil and Development Company, the Los Angeles Transfer Company, the Los Angeles Oil Company, the Lake Shore Oil Company, the Los Angeles Improvement Company, the Mercantile Oil Company, the Union Oil Company, and various individuals and smaller firms who operate in the oil regions of this city, was brought up before Judge Van Dyke yesterday, and the hearing on the order to show cause was continued until July 15.

The suit is for an injunction to be laid upon the oil-workers, restraining them from constructing or maintaining in the public streets or grounds within the city of Los Angeles any wires, oil-pipe lines, cables, derricks, oil tanks, sludge holes or pools of oil or water, or depositing in these places any oil, asphaltum, sludge or any other debris, about or noisome odors which interfere with the comfort of the residents of the oil region; and from operating machinery in the night time, and so interfering with the rest of people near the wells.

The contest is expected to be a lively one, and much interest is felt in the outcome.

Little Carmen Sylva.

Not often within the walls of a courtroom is seen such a dainty little human blossom as appeared yesterday before Judge Van Dyke, that she might be formally adopted as the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Denton.

A bonnie baby, she was, just 1 year old, a blue-eyed, golden-haired morsel who, when she was last seen, was a refreshing nap to smile sunnily in the faces of the officials, and gurgle most irreverently within the radius of the judicial presence.

Carmen Sylva Denton will be her name, and judging from the loving pride with which the kind little English lady who adopted her regarded her charges, there is little orphan's lines have fallen in pleasant places.

The baby was taken to the Montclair Children's Home at Pasadena when she was only a week old, and the matron, Mrs. E. R. Townsend, immediately gave her into the care of Mrs. Denton, who has had charge of her ever since, and has taken every step to assume legal guardianship of the child.

Another Divorce Case.

William W. Holt and Frances M. Holt are making desperate efforts to loosen their matrimonial bonds, and the Department Three is looking on with deep interest. William accuses his wife of having killed their child by reason of her state of mind, but he admits that the child was born with deep interest. William accuses his wife of having killed their child by reason of her state of mind, but he admits that the child was born with deep interest.

The charge of cruelty was made on both sides, and the case is now being argued all day.

McGuire Pleads Guilty.

John McGuire, the genial little Irish tramp who made mince meat of Hall out in the Pasadena Jail, was brought before Judge Smith yesterday, and pleaded guilty to the charge.

John had his doubts about the advisability of entering such a plea, for as he confidentially informed Clerk L. O. "The fact is, I am a law-abiding citizen, and it was drubbe there when Ol strook him, but mebbe 'tis best, fur they do say Ol sholiked him purty bad." John will be sentenced today.

Wheeler Will Appeal.

The case of Dalton Wheeler vs. J. A. Donnell came up yesterday in Department Four. Statement on motion for a new trial was settled. Then the motion was submitted without argument and denied. An appeal to the Supreme Court will be immediately taken.

Murphy Acquitted.

John B. Murphy, held to answer to the charge of burglary, was tried yesterday in Department Six, the jury bringing in a verdict of not guilty.

Gray Goes to San Quentin.

C. B. Gray, a stalwart ruffian of desperate character, who has already served two terms in the penitentiary, pleaded guilty yesterday to the charge of burglary, and was promptly sentenced by Judge Smith to San Quentin for a term of two years.

New Suits.

A. W. Beery has filed a suit to foreclose a mortgage upon property in Lancaster belonging to John C. Hannah. Mr. McNeil has entered suit against Frank McNeil and John Gray to dissolve partnership and to recover the sum of $500.

The Southern Pacific Railroad has brought suit against U. W. Stowell et al., to condemn a tract of land desired for railroad purposes.

E. C. Winterbottom has applied for a divorce from his wife, Alice Winterbottom, upon the ground of desertion.

Hiram N. Leach has filed an application for divorce from his wife, Mary L. Leach, on the ground of desertion.

Lewis W. Andrews has filed a suit against G. G. Crane, administrator of the estate of John B. Briggs, deceased, to quiet title to various tracts of land at La Crescenta.

Nora McAfee has filed an application for divorce from her husband, Frank McAfee, on the ground of extreme cruelty and immorality on the part of defendant.

Joseph F. Waterman has petitioned for letters of administration on the estate of Mary V. Plummer, deceased.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

Now Acting as a Board of Equalization.

The Board of Supervisors is still up to its eyebrows equalizing assessments, and the room is filled with busy workers. Between times the board has found time to award the electric lighting franchise to E. E. Peck, in consideration of the sum of $77, and upon the filing of a good and sufficient bond in the sum of $2000.

Upon motion of Supervisor Hanley, Supervisor Hart was authorized to see that the approach to Foster bridge, which is in a dangerous condition, is properly repaired.

S. S. Shorten, the counterfeiter, was each a continuance until today. Judge Wellborn granted the term trial jury a recess until July 28.

The grand jury presented a small indictment on a criminal charge.

AT THE U. S. BUILDING.

The case against a Job-lot of Smuggled Opium.

The case of the United States vs. 140 five-gal cans of opium came up yesterday in the United States District Court. The claim of S. H. Jappe for informer's reward for the confiscation of the opium was set for hearing on July 18. The filing of more claims is expected.

THE SUPREME COURT.

Eight Important Decisions That Were Handled Down.

The case of Meyer Greenberg, plaintiff and respondent, vs. California Bituminous Rock Company, defendant and respondent, with C. F. Johnson as intervenor and appellant, has been decided a second time by the Supreme Court, the second decision affirming the judgment and order appealed from.

The case concerning certain lands in San Luis Obispo county, valued at $25,000, which were purchased by Greenberg, L. M. Warden and the appellant Johnson, who owned an undivided fourth thereof. These lands were then sold to the California Bituminous Rock Company for the consideration of 1250 shares of stock, the entire capital stock of the corporation.

The stock not having been issued and delivered, Greenberg, in January, 1891, commenced an action against the corporation to foreclose an alleged vendor's lien, alleging a sale for $25,000, payable in demand, and that no part of the purchase money had ever been paid. The corporation answered with a general denial. Johnson, the appellant, filed a complaint in intervention, alleging that the sale was made for money, and alleging the sale for stock, no part of which had ever been issued or delivered. His prayer was that the title to the lands should be rendered for the plaintiff in either case. The court entered judgment that the corporation issue to the intervenor 300 shares of stock, the intervenor to pay the balance of the purchase money having been withdrawn. The case was appealed to the Supreme Court, which reversed the decision, with leave to the intervenor and plaintiff to amend their complaint, which was done by the intervenor.

The issues were different upon the occasion of the second appeal, and the judgment, which was first reversed is now affirmed.

THE EGG CASE AGAIN.

That carload of eggs sent from Iowa by Kirchbraun & Sons, to A. Ramish of this city, is at last disposed of, the judgment and order of the lower court being affirmed.

The eggs were delayed in delivery at this end of the line, on account of the negligence of the defendants, in delaying to forward the eggs to the market, the eggs suffered by the delay, and so did the price, and the jury awarded the plaintiff damages in proportion to the loss occasioned by the fall in the egg market and the effect of age upon the eggs.

GIER'S ACTION FOR DAMAGES.

The Los Angeles Consolidated Electric Railway Company appealed from the judgment of the lower court in awarding damages to W. H. Gier, and from the order denying a new trial.

W. H. Gier was a conductor upon one of the defendants' electric cars, and while turning a switch, was caught between two cars in the V-shaped space made by the switch, and badly crushed. He sued for damages on the ground of the general reputation for carelessness of the motorman, and judgment was granted him. The defendant appealed to the Supreme Court, on the ground that the order established the fact, ordered the decision to be reversed, and the cause remanded.

NON-SUIT AFFIRMED.

John W. Craig et al. vs. Hesperia Land and Water Company, appealed from the judgment of the court below, which granted a non-suit, and gave judgment for the defendant. The plaintiff appealed upon the ground that the court erred in granting the defendant's motion for a non-suit. The record shows that the plaintiff took the order at the time, therefore, the judgment and order are affirmed.

who were indebted to merchants in San Francisco for sums aggregating $3800. To obtain extension of time, they executed a promissory note for the full amount, which was delivered to the creditors. The firm failed, and the plaintiff commenced an action against Thomas Kenton and Henry Moody, the alleged indorsers of the note, and therefore liable for its payment.

The case was tried, and the evidence proving both signatures to have been forgeries, a verdict was returned in favor of the defendants.

Appeal was made by the plaintiff, and the Supreme Court returns a decision affirming the judgment and order of the lower court.

CORBIT VS. KIMBALL.

An appeal was made by John A. Kimball from the judgment which decreed that he must either pay to John Corbit the sum of $1500 or make to him a conveyance of forty acres of land in dispute. The judgment was reversed and the cause remanded.

NO LIEN ON THE HORSE.

An action brought by Dawson Lowe et al., livery and feed-stable keepers, against P. J. Woods, to enforce a lien upon a horse for the feeding of the animal, was nonsuited in the lower court, and the plaintiff appealed. The judgment is affirmed.

QUESTION OF FORECLOSURE.

M. S. G. Tomich et al., appealed from the judgment of the lower court which granted the foreclosure of a mortgage to W. H. Harrelson. The judgment and order appealed from are affirmed.

FIRE IN CHINATOWN.

A burning load of hay created quite a sensation in Chinatown at midnight. The blaze occurred in front of a Chinese meat market, at No. 428 North Los Angeles street, where a rancher had left a wagon-load of hay standing for the night. It is supposed to have been ignited by a firecracker, and, as it was very dry, it burned rapidly.

An alarm was turned in from box 36 and several fire engines and hose carts responded. Although two streams of water were played upon it, it took fully half an hour to subdue the fire. But for the work of the department, Chinatown would have suffered a conflagration, as the flames would easily have been communicated to the surrounding inflammable property.

NEWS OF CYCLING.

FIVE THOUSAND WHEELMEN IN RACES THURSDAY.

Zimmerman and Johnson to Race for the Championship at Asbury Park Next Week.

Something About Frank Lenz, the Pittsburgh Boy Who Was Killed by the Kurds.

Slater to Return to Arizona—Some More Big Bicycle Trips—Trouble Over Road-Race—General and Local Bicycle Notes.

Race meets were held on the Fourth at 104 places under sanction of the League of American Wheelmen. These were all on tracks of some kind, and about a dozen California towns are in this number. At fifty other places road races and short races on the streets were conducted on Independence day to make at least 200 towns where bicycle racing was going on at the same time. Twenty-five or more riders took part at each of these 200 places, so there must have been a total of 5000 men racing on bicycles yesterday.

The biggest meet in California was that at San Jose, the most important in the South were at Louisville and Fort Worth; in the East at Buffalo. The National Circuit meet was at Bridgeport, Ct.

Zimmerman and Johnson are to really meet in a race for the professional championship. At least it looks that way, and the track is at Asbury Park, N. J., near the home of Arthur Zimmerman. The date of meeting is during the national meet of the League of American Wheelmen on the last three days of next week. There are to be three races, and the winner is to be the "best two in three."

Arthur Zimmerman is a tall, raw-boned, bow-legged, long-faced good-natured American boy. He is a new blood was trying to make itself felt. "Zim" had had luck in England until his brother-in-law went over and persuaded Art to quit drinking and discontinue and devote his time to bicycle racing. No great work was being done over here so when Zimmerman began to win in England and Scotland all American papers referred to him as our champion. When the Jersey boys got back here he was disgusted with the compliments showered on him and he told me a few days after his arrival while he was at the moment dodging a grand reception that had been arranged for him—that he had stopped reading all newspapers and explained: "I am sick and tired out and would quit racing right now if it was not for my friends and then, too, everybody would say that I was afraid I would be beaten here after such good luck in England." This seems queer, but Arthur Zimmerman is one in a thousand, and this dislike of praise is the secret of his popularity. He is a willing conversationalist on anything but his own work. There is no brag in him. I remember well what he said when I asked him about Johnson's bluff just before they were to meet for the first time after "Zim" returned from England. "If Johnnie is riding as his trainer claims he is, he will probably beat me, but I shall make a good fight." And he did too.

Little Otto Ziegler is showing up better of late. Evidently his new training is beginning to understand the little demon of San Jose. I hope Ziegler will get some of the championships at Asbury Park next week, but his riding so far does not indicate it. With his Santa Monica, which will have both start and finish in this city. Horace Slater, the remarkable rider from Arizona, talks of going back to Phoenix to live, as he has not had much chance to race since coming here. Local men will be sorry to see him leave. Santa Ana was well represented at the Santa Monica, and Harry Bundy got away with one of the time prizes, too. The Eastern wheel papers are enthusiastic at present over the introduction of professional racing. One reason is that the editors of most of the large cycling papers are ex-professional racing-men themselves.

Johnson is getting the best of the professional racing circuit, and so far has captured the chief events. Zimmerman is not riding in these races or it would be for the minor prizes. Sanger is still in poor condition, and Tyler is not in much better shape. The other professionals are green men, or men that have gone in for the minor prizes.

There is considerable hard feeling over the Santa Monica road race. One cause of complaint was on account of the reduction of the entrance fee to members of the League of American Wheelmen. All wheelmen should be members of the L. A. W., and the promoters of the road race put a premium on membership in the league on this account. As the usual dues of the L. A. W. are only $1, there is no excuse for racing men staying out of the league.

A more serious charge against the promoters of the road race was that one make of wheel was favored in the handicapping. The man who won first place had a wheel of this make loaned him for the race, although it was known that he could ride the course in faster time than last year's record. He was given eight minutes, while men not so fast on other makes of wheels were set back of him. It is also charged that the winner took advantage in sitting and got out of the nine-minute men. There is much talk among the trade and racing men of boycotting this race if the same men control it next year.

The Riverside Wheel is the name of a new eight-page wheel paper, with pages 11x14. Its editors and publishers are John R. Pickstone, foreman of the Riverside Enterprise, and Robert R. Todd, a printer on the Enterprise. Its first number was issued last Monday, and it was well illustrated. Pickstone & Todd own their own plant and have already had their paper made the official organ of the Riverside Wheelmen, the leading bicycle club of Southern California. The Riverside Wheel is a well-gotten up cycle paper; in fact, it is better than some of the other papers that have been running for years.

The first tandem riders to make the trip down from San Francisco to Los Angeles, arrived in this city on Tuesday night. They were Percy S. Pickstone and Wallace L. Bray of the Garden City Cyclers of San Jose, and their itinerary was as follows: June 27, left San Francisco; Thursday evening, reached Salinas; Friday, reached San Miguel; Saturday, San Luis Obispo; Sunday, Santa Ynez; Monday, Santa Barbara; Tuesday, Los Angeles.

Six whole days were taken for the trip, and the first two days the boys averaged a hundred miles a day. Then they struck Southern California roads and had to go slower. Last year A. P. Swain of Oakland made the first trip of this kind, and from the data of his trip compiled for me, Oscar Osen of San Jose arranged for his wonderful record trip, when he covered the same route right on through here to San Diego in three days and two hours. But the spring was chosen, at the time when our roads would be at their best, not as they are now.

Messrs. Pickstone and Bray are but lads, and this is excellent work for them, as they are both of small stature and have never before undertaken a long tour. They rode a racing tandem with road tires, which, with toolbag six-footer and was quite a broad jumper before he began to ride the old "coffee mill" bicycle that first brought him into prominence, five years ago. Since then "Zim" has thickened up some, and his face is not so homely, although that scar half way across his face is still plain to see. He is still quite bow-legged, but his clothes fit him better than when I first knew him.

The first I remember of Zimmerman was in 1888 or 1889, and it seems to me now that he was first brought to the attention of wheel enthusiasts at that time by making a record of 246 for the mile in his novice race. At that time his riding mate was Billy Murphy, although Zimmerman chummed with Billy Taxis of Philadelphia, and "Our Will," as Philadelphiaans referred to him, was somewhat of "Zim" and looks. So late as 1891 I use to get them mixed until I got on the scar side. If the scar was there it was "Art," if not I knew it was "Our Billy." Arthur Zimmerman was only a second-rater until October, 1891, when he beat Willie Windle at Peoria in a two-mile race, and the following day in the five-mile. "Zim" was more surprised than any one else, and fairly apologized to Windle, who was then an unbeaten wonder with a record of fifty-three firsts, and so Zimmerman at once sprang into prominence. In 1892 the New York Athletic Club disbanded the big racing team that had cost $30,000 the year before and decided as an innovation to send one man to England. Murphy was their best rider, but somehow Zimmerman was chosen and at that time racing was not attracting much attention in this country, the faster men were retiring and a lot of trainer of last year, Richard P. Aylward of Livermore and San Francisco, and with the same care and training that he had last season I am sure that Otto would have been outriding them all this year as he did at the Denver L. A. W. annual meet. The inter Ocean, commenting on Ziegler, says: "He has proved that his claims to the honors he gained at Denver were not established, as was said at the time, wholly by his having become more thoroughly accustomed to the Colorado climate than had the Easterners."

It is now pretty thoroughly believed that Frank Lenz of Pittsburgh met his death at the hands of the Kurds and Sachtleben, who went in search of the lost globe girder, claims to have found the chief of the Kurds and the man under him who assassinated the German lad who was sent out by Outing. When Thomas Stevens was making the first tour around the world on a bicycle, he passed through this same part of Asia, and staid in the camps of these Kurds. He made friends with them, and his stories of the savagery of these nomadic murderers were doubted. In the last year the papers have been full of the cruelty of these servants of the Turks, and very few people now doubt what has been said by wheelmen.

When Allen and Sachtleben were making their interesting tour of the world on safety bicycles they carried a small detective camera, and the six small views here given were made by them near where Lenz met his death. I rode part of the way with Frank Lenz while he was crossing this country, and as he was the guest of myself and club-mates for many days I had a good chance to study him. He was a persistent fellow and full of courage, but with poor judgment, and the last time I saw him he said to me, partly in humor, "You'll surely get killed in Asia, you are so stubborn," or words to that effect, and he replied: "I expect to be." But in the next breath said I should probably see him in 1894.

A party of eight wheelmen rode down from Alameda and Oakland about a week ago. Fred White, the well-known fat bicycle trainer and dealer of Alameda was one of the party, and he said that it was rather too much like work after reaching Paso Robles. "Pop" Bigelow and another Riverside man were in the party. One of the party, an Oakland teacher, started on an eighteen-pound wheel, and of course broke down. Most of the eight were helmets.

Of all our local racing men, only four took part in races outside of town Thursday. They were Tracy Hall, who got one first prize at Ventura; Arthur Griffin, who got a first and a second at Ontario; Dan Whitman, who failed to qualify at San Jose, and John Cowan, who got a second and a first at Ontario. Taylor of Duarte, who rides in a local team, got some prizes at San Diego, too. These are all class riders.

There is talk of establishing an annual road race to take the place of the and cyclist, weighed thirty-six and a half pounds, which is six pounds lighter than the road tandem. Their cyclistometer registered just 612 miles for the riding between San Francisco and this city. Both were large lads of figured complexions, and of a good build.

The Rocky Mountain Cyclist is the name of the new wheel paper published at Salt Lake City. Its editor is W. D. Riebel, and it is conducted by a company. It is a well-gotten up paper, and looks very much like Cycling West of Denver, after which it has copied.

Bernardine third-of-a-mile bicycle track is about half graded, and will be done by the end of this month. It will be kept up at the present rate. The Riverside Wheelmen had a run to Rabel Springs last Sunday, and the pace was slow enough to suit new riders.

Ontario's bicycle club, the Ontario Wheelmen, made a good showing on Thursday, and will hereafter run an annual race meet, probably on July 4. A three-lap track will be built next spring, adjoining Chaffey College on the famous boulevard. Euclid avenue will be slow enough to suit new riders.

WASHINGTON OFF THE POWDER STAINS. The patriots are all going to Santa Monica tomorrow to recover from the effects of the Fourth. They will bath, ride the ocean, and bogan slide, listen to the music of one of the best bands west of the Rockies, fish at Port Los Angeles and otherwise have a fine time. They will run train races, too. The 3:30 a.m. fish train will make no stop after leaving University; the 3:35 a.m. flyer no stop after leaving Arcade Depot, twenty-six and twenty-two minutes respectively is the run. Here's our time-table: Leave Arcade Depot 2:50, 3:35, 3:45, 10:20 a.m., 1 and 1:30 p.m. Last train leaves Santa Monica 6:25 p.m. Southern Pacific's round trip, 50 cents.

BRILLIANT RECEPTION TO PROF. SEARCH LAST EVENING.

The Chamber of Commerce Thronged with Representative Citizens Whose Sympathies Are with the Deposed Superintendent—A Telegram from Pueblo.

There was nothing lacking in the way of enthusiasm and numbers in the reception tendered to Prof. P. W. Search last evening in the Chamber of Commerce.

The assembly hall was beautifully decorated with the graceful, drooping branches of palm and papyrus, interwoven with the lacy paper sprays, and brightened with the scarlet fire of geraniums and the silvery-pink of the splendid banks of La France roses.

Prof. Search stood near the platform, flushed with pleasure, and smiling graciously upon the friendly throng which surged around him, eager to shake his hand, and testify by the cordiality of their greeting the friendship and respect entertained by all present for the noted champion of individualism and progressive instruction.

Musso Bros' orchestra was stationed in the exhibition hall, and lent a charm to the pleasant evening by the strains of brilliant or dreamy music which rose and fell through the hum of many voices.

The greatest credit is due the Reception Committee for the way in which the whole affair was planned and carried out. The special Committee of Arrangements consisted of Mrs. W. H. Graham, Mrs. J. O. Koepfler, Mrs. H. Newman, Mrs. J. T. Sheward, Mrs. Andrew Mullen, Mrs. Cornelius Cole, Mrs. John F. Francis, Mrs. D. G. Riebel, and Miss Wills, Mrs. C. W. Ford, Mrs. F. A. Gibson, W. C. Patterson, J. O. Koepfler, F. A. Gibson, W. M. Garland, W. L. Willis, S. E. Fulton, and Mrs. H. Maynard.

When the rooms and corridors were filled with guests and Prof. Search's arm was growing lame from the vigorous pump-handling it received, W. C. Patterson stepped to the flower-banked platform and, with a few graceful, cordial words, expressive of his deep sympathy with, and hearty admiration of, Prof. Search, handed to that gentleman a formidable-looking document, which, when unrolled, proved to be a double string of names nearly as long as the recipient of this token of regard, at the testimonial already published. Many of the representative names of this city were there, and the expression of Prof. Search's face as he unrolled the paper was worth going many a mile to see. He held it for a moment, then turned to the people before him and said: "My friends, this is a most delightful funeral." For a moment he got no further, but when the roars of applause subsided, Mr. Search went on to speak with deep feeling of the many friends he had found in this city, and the more than fulfillment of every pleasant anticipation with which he had come here to live. The few clouds that had arisen were not enough to shut out the entire sky, and the token of appreciation so frankly given was sufficient to warm his heart with gratitude to his many friends.

Prof. Search stated it as his intention to remain in this city for some time, that is, if some act of special legislation did not come up to prevent, and spoke with pleasure of being one of the people of Los Angeles. Dr. J. S. Thomson then rose and spoke with warm feeling and emphasis upon the subject which had called forth this expression of public opinion. Dr. Thomson expressed much satisfaction in finding that there was too much conscience in this city to allow Prof. Search to leave it with the slightest stain upon his reputation as an educator, and said that it rejoiced him to see that there was conscience, intelligence and Christianity enough to bravely express to man the general belief in his honesty and integrity of purpose after he was killed.

Dr. Thomson spoke of his own disinclination to warfare of any description, but declared that once in a while a good fight was exceedingly satisfactory, provided he came out on top. The three mercantile organizations, and the men that made them, the Friday Morning Club, and the thoughtful people of the city, tried to prevail upon the six men in the Board of Education to move slowly in this matter, as this man should be kept here for three reasons; he was a good man, a good citizen, and an excellent educator, and one who stood up for the truth that was in him, and bravely went on with his work when he knew the hatchet was raised to cut off his head.

Dr. Thomson expressed a hearty wish that these men could be voted out of office, as they were not a board of directors, but a board of executioners, and it was quite time they were retired; and also an earnest hope that this tall, strong, brave, noble man would stay in this city for many a day, as he was needed here.

Dr. William Le Moyne Willis: Search's method of teaching is not a lost cause by defeat in Los Angeles. Congratulations Search on success in defeat. Congratulate his friends that they are on the winning side.

THE LAND AND ITS FRUITS

DECIDUOUS FRUIT IS BECOMING FROM DAY TO DAY more plentiful on the local market. Peaches of fair quality are coming in and there are also plenty of berries, but the apricot is at the present the leading fruit. Reports from the north are to the effect that the apricot crop there is even shorter than was at first supposed. Here it is somewhat better, but still by no means a large one. The local apricot grows on the plain, and the fruit which is being offered by canners and other buyers. While in the northern part of the State from $35 to $40 a ton is being paid, buyers here have not been offering more than $16 a ton, which is a miserable price considering the limited crop. It is a great pity that the deciduous fruit men do not decide to organize, after the style of the orange-growers.

A recent report from San Jose states that the apricot harvest will commence in about a week. Prices are being paid as follows: For fruit as it runs in the orchards, taking the whole crop, $32.50 per ton; for canning, say nine to the pound, all varieties, $35 per ton. Moor-parks, by themselves, are held at a considerably higher figure. They are of exceptionally good quality this year and very scarce. They come in at the last of the season and as yet no sales that would furnish a base for price quotations have been made.

While buyers find it difficult to obtain lemons in carload lots around Los Angeles, they are making large purchases at Ontario, which is becoming quite a lemon center. An Ontario paper says that the exchange is shipping two carloads a week, which average it will make a profit of $1000 per car for lemons.

The ruction among the auction men in the East is exciting much interest among California fruit-growers. H. W. Weinstein of Sacramento, president of the California Fruit Growers and Shippers' Association, recently spoke on this subject as follows to an Examiner reporter:

"The California growers and shippers have suffered most disastrously in the past in the city of Chicago and elsewhere, because of the existence of two or more auction houses, each claiming the fruit and dividing the buyers thus bringing the fruit into competition with itself on the one hand and making possible the existence of one or more buyers on the other hand. To overcome this evil the California Fruit-growers and Shippers' Association was organized this season for the purpose of establishing a consolidated auction-room in each Eastern city, so that all the fruit and all the buyers and the auctioneers may be brought together under one roof for the benefit of the grower. These consolidated auction-rooms are made free and open to all buyers, thereby making possible a condition, however, which the Chicago buyers do not want. They prefer to bring back the condition of the fruit which was satisfactory to them, but most sorrowful to the growers.

"Their recent action as indicated by the telegram, which they make a plain that they propose to determine who shall and who shall not enjoy the privilege of buying California fruits in that city, simply shows how important it is on the part of the California growers and shippers to act as a unit.

"So long as the California growers are united in their main, masters of the situation, and the buyers of Chicago will have a choice of doing one of three things—either buying in an open auction, or buying from the growers; or, if they prefer, from the field, thus leaving it to the peddlers and hucksters; or the Chicago buyers can come to California and buy the fruit in the orchards and vineyards for cash which course would be very satisfactory to the growers.

"Should the growers fail to give their united support to this association, then there is every prospect of the Chicago fruit-buyers succeeding in their attempt to establish an auction in that city, thereby reviving and perpetuating a serious evil of the past, which was largely the cause of much of the disaster to growers and shippers during the past two or three years.

"If the Chicago buyers win at this time it means that they will fasten more firmly than ever upon the growers of California, which, judging from the history of the past, will be maintained at frightful cost to the fruit industry of the State. The growers will then have to choose between largely abandoning the Chicago market, or accepting for their products in that city whatever price the Chicago buyers in their generosity may see fit to give regardless of the true value of the fruit."

It is reported from the East that, by reason of the heavy peach crop in Georgia, Maryland, Delaware and New Jersey, California cannot compete with the Eastern markets in peaches, and, accordingly, growers are advised to dry their peaches or sell them to the canneries on the best available terms. The situation is made all the graver by the fact that the freight rate on peaches from Georgia to Chicago is so much lower than from San Francisco.

A San Francisco paper has the following sensible arguments in regard to the best methods of meeting such a condition of affairs as this:

"While we believe that the best ultimate results of horticulture in California are to be secured in the production of fruits which cannot be produced in the East, the very large investment which we already have made in the production of staple fruits in which the East can compete with us, requires us to meet the conditions of this competition. There are three ways in which this may be done.

"One is for the transportation companies to adjust their rates as to favor these classes of fruits.

hour, and they cost $500 each delivered in San Francisco. An expert gives the San Francisco Call the following interesting information on this subject:

A creamery receiving the milk of 1000 cows every day, or over 30,000 pounds of milk each morning, which should be separated within four hours from the delivery of the first load to the creamery, must have at least four separators of the largest capacity, and, no doubt, five would do the work better. They should have also a twenty-horse-power boiler and a cream separator, power engine, and cream vats sufficient to store the cream forty hours before churning. If the cream is churned before it is ripe the butter will be dry and lacking in quality. They must also have power churns, power butter-workers, and, above all, plenty of clear, cold water and an abundance of hot water to keep everything clean and sweet.

"The separated milk is returned to the patron or conducted some distance from the creamery, or, if it is fed to the calves or hogs. For the Eastern market the butter is sold in solid-packed tubs, and that market requires only solid-packed tubs, and there is no demand for squares. But Californians demand squares weighing one and three-fourths pounds each, or six squares to the box, actually weighing 96 to 110 pounds. No doubt this custom of selling butter in squares is a relic of the time when it was sold in tubs, and the time is not far distant when consumers will demand uniform weights on the squares.

"There are at the present writing more than one hundred creameries in the State that have been erected during the last two years, and many more will be running before long. The larger number of these are co-operative stock companies, with $10,000 to $20,000 capital, the stock being subscribed by the dairymen. The buildings were erected and the machinery and the outfitting furnished and put all under one contract by the dairymen. In some cases the dairymen have secured the cost of a creamery plant has been reduced and, no doubt, prices will be further reduced in the near future.

"Few, if any, creameries purchase the milk or cream, but simply pick it up for the patrons, charging them an agreed price per pound for manufacturing and marketing the butter. Aside from the directors and managers of the companies, who are usually selected from representative dairymen of the district, the patron has simply to deliver his milk at the creamery every morning and call around for his dividends, which are paid monthly. So large is the demand for creamery butter that it brings the price of milk to the farmer. In some cases the price of milk is as high as 10 cents a quart, and in some cases it is as low as 5 cents. The price of milk is a very important factor in the cost of a creamery plant. In this way the cost of a creamery plant has been reduced and, no doubt, prices will be further reduced in the near future.

"Within the past month Eastern buyers have purchased and contracted for all the creamery butter of the State. The buyers are willing to pay a commission of 10 percent on the price of the butter, but they are not willing to pay a commission of 10 percent on the price of the milk. This is a very important factor in the cost of a creamery plant. In this way the cost of a creamery plant has been reduced and, no doubt, prices will be further reduced in the near future.

California gave the East a taste of her cream during the past year, at the time when the hens were on a strike in that cold climate, and will now give them some of the finest creamery butter made in the State. The creamery butter is a very important factor in the cost of a creamery plant. In this way the cost of a creamery plant has been reduced and, no doubt, prices will be further reduced in the near future.

The battle of the bugs. The late warfare between the bug men and the fruiting men appears to have broken out again. Mr. Kercheval recently announced that he was prepared to supply horticulturists with colonies of the steel brown lady-bug, which destroys red scale, from his place in the southern part of the city. G. W. Van Kirk, Horticultural Commissioner, sends The Times the following communication on the subject, which will doubtless elicit adverse comments from those who believe that the orcus can get away with the scale, and that it should be given a further chance to show what it can do:

"Believing it to be of vital importance to fruit-growers to give them facts from personal examination in addition to information obtainable from competent judges, relative to the steel-brown lady-bug (Orcus chalybeus), the supposed enemy of the red scale, we should thoroughly discuss its merits before allowing its introduction into the heart of our fruit-growing sections. It has been abandoned by several parties contemplating the introduction of the lady-bug upon the red scale, and I have been advised by the State Board of Horticulture, Horticultural Commissioner Scott of Los Angeles claims they are too slow in their action to be of any consequence. I am competent judge who have watched their progress in this opinion. I asked Mr. Kercheval, in whose orchard these bugs were first colonized, if he were the owner of a ten-acre grove in Riverside, which was partly infested with red scale, if he would rely upon the bugs, or fumigate? His reply was that he would certainly fumigate, where the number was limited. With such substantial evidence before me I am adverse to the colonization of this parasite, and shall endeavor to enforce fumigation of all trees found affected with red scale until fully satisfied that the orcus proves a success. The United States Consul at Sidney, N. S. W., informs us that the red scale is the most common and the worst enemy they have to contend with on the citrus trees. The orcus is very abundant in that locality, but spraying is largely on the increase.

"If we permit the introduction of the orcus it necessitates the strictest of fumigation, and it allows any individual to test the efficiency of the bug the same privilege will be demanded by the neighbor, and fumigation will be suspended. A specimen of the orcus can be seen in the grove of Mr. Kercheval, South Los Angeles. About four years ago a tree was selected very close to an orange tree, and it was found to be infested with the orcus. Today there are hundreds of bugs on the same tree, and still enough scale remains to seed the whole State. Samples of the fruit and the orcus can be seen in the office of the Horticultural Commissioner, Riverside, Loring building. If we have to wait for four years and then obtain such results every tree in the country would be infested, and the damage would be almost beyond computation.

"The Vedalia cardinals and the Rhizobius were the thoroughbred of adjoining counties, and proved successful before their introduction here, but so far the Rhizobius has not been successful with us. On recent examination I found very few and am somewhat disappointed over the result of their propagation. We have also been disappointed in obtaining beetles, on account of many growers ordering these direct. As soon as a report was favorable to their propagation our intention was to have colonies shipped in monthly and distributed to the growers. The orcus is daily for these bugs, and in consequence of this rush, the price has raised from that of the mere cost of gathering to 1 cent for each lady-bug. The commission on the orcus is being obtained what we desired on account of these exorbitant charges and rapidly-increasing orders. If we endorse the orcus no doubt another bug trust will be established in Los Angeles."

POLICE COURT NOTES

Fourth of July Drunks and Peace Disturbances Punished. It was a sorry-looking lot of patriots that occupied the dock at the Police Court yesterday. There were scarcely enough seats to accommodate them all. They had celebrated the Fourth of July by drinking too much of malt and spirituous liquors, and were there to render an accounting. The majority of them entered a plea of guilty to the charge of being intoxicated, and received the customary sentence of $5, or three days. In a few aggravated cases the Judge raised the limit of the fine and imprisonment. Robert Carroll, a contractor for installing a water system, was fined $10. A score or more of drunks were sentenced. The following interesting cases were continued till today: People vs. George S. Valentini, for disturbing the peace, disturbing the peace; Louis Brakeschuler, malicious mischief.

National Educational Convention. Dr. E. T. Pierce, principal of the State Normal School in the city, left yesterday morning to attend the National Educational Association, which convenes in Denver next week. It is expected that 20,000 teachers will be in attendance. Dr. Pierce goes as the representative of the Southern California Teachers' Association. He takes with him invitations from the Chamber of Commerce, the Merchants' Association, the City Council, the City Board of Education, and the County Board of Education to hold its next annual session in this city. This would bring to Los Angeles from twelve to fifteen thousand people, and would also exert a vast influence in favor of our city and county.

The Master Plumbers. Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Parker and children returned Thursday evening from their visit to relatives and friends in Newark, O. Mr. Parker reports that the National Convention of Master Plumbers was a most successful and enthusiastic gathering. The Philadelphia plumbers entertained their visiting brethren in a royal manner. Mr. and Mrs. Parker were accompanied on their trip by Mr. Parker's sister, Miss Lizzie Weber and Mrs. George Kimball, both of Newark, O. They came to visit Southern California for themselves.

The bicycle clubs of St. Petersburg were so delighted to hear that Count Tatischeff had taken the wheel that they made him a present of a silver bicycle. Ignoring the fact that he would be the last person in the world to approve of such a thing.

MOTHERS, Do You Know that Paragon, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, many so-called Soothing Symples, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine? Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons? Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons? Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed? Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle? Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitcher. That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined? Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense? Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless? Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose? Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest? Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts.
